SERIES OF SERMONS

The Rev. William J. Morton to Preach on "The Unrecorded Sayings of Christ."

The Rev. William J. Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal church in this city, has given notice of a series of sermons on "The Unrecorded Sayings of Christ." St. John says, at the close of his gospel, that he had recorded only a small part of the things which Jesus said and did during His earthly ministry, and that there were many other things "which if they should be written, every one. I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written." (See St. John 21: 24, 25 and also 20:30, 31.)

Before the four gospels were written, and for many years after they were written, there was a great volume of oral teaching and tradition of Christ's work and words. Many of His sayings not recorded by the gospel writers found their way into the writings of the early christian writers whose works were reliable records though uninspired writing. Some of these sayings of Christ so preserved are most interesting, and well worthy of our consideration and study.

The series of sermons referred to above will deal with some of the most important and interesting of these sayings of the Master recorded outside of the New Testament, and which are yet believed by conservative christian scholars to be authentic reports of Christ's sayings.

The Rector will preach the first of this series of sermons in Christ church on Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, and the public generally is cordially invited to attend.

SNOWBALL ANNOYANCE.

Automobilist, After Having Been Annoyed by a Gang of Youngsters Gets One to Enter His Car.

The moral of the fable of the boys stoning the frogs—'tis fun for you but death to us"—is often apparent, but never more so than when snow is on the ground. In the olden times the occupants of every sleigh which passed corners where groups of youngsters were stationed were greeted with volleys of snowballs. Sleighs, in the day of the automobile, have become as scarce as sea serpents, and now the modern vehicle is the target of merry youngsters of this day.

Yesterday a well-known resident was in a limousine near the intersection of Cameron and St. Asaph streets where several youngsters were gathered, when several snow balls struck the glass of the machine. The occupant maintained his patience and stopped the auto a few yards away, and invited one of the older boys to take a ride with him. The boy dropped his snowballs and readily accepted the invitation. The autoist invited another youth, but he evidently became suspicious and declined to enter the machine. The man at the wheel with his passenger headed for the station house, and his youthful companion became aware of the fact that he had fallen into a trap. He begged the man not to turn him over to the police, offering him a nickel if he would stop the car and allow him to get out. The machine soon drew up in front of the station house, which at the time was in charge of Sergeant John T. Roberts, who regarded the youth with fierceness while he listened to the automobilist's story. The latter, however, merely desired that the youth be admonished, which the sergeant did in his usual impressive manner. The boy promised to abstain from throwing snow balls at autoists in future and was allowe dto depart.

WORK OF ENEMY AGENTS

Quartermaster Warehouses Destroyed by Fire Which Menaces Shipbuilding Plant.

Government agents are today running down clues which may lead to the arrest of the incendiaries responsible for a series of fires early today in United States war plants in Baltimore, Buffalo and Newark, N. J., and a British ship in an Atlantic port.

Rumors of a "reign of terror" to be started along the Atlantic coast by enemy agents about February 1 have been revived by the fires, and many see in them the beginning of an organized system of arson designed to hamper the Government in the conduct of the war.

At a fire which did $500,000 damage at the Henry Smith and Sons' shipbuilding plant at Curtis Bay, Baltimore, watchmen fired on the supposed incendiary, who leaped into the river and is supposed to have been drowned.

The other shipbuilding plant fire was at Port Newark, N. J., where the Submarine Boat Corporation is building ships for the United States. Here a bullet fired by a man who ran away from several oil barges just before they burst into flame passed through the hat of a United States sergeant.

A mysterious blaze is now being fought by the entire Buffalo fire department, but threatens to destroy the big plant of the Westinghouse Electric Company.

Another fire last night did $250,000 damage to the Oella Woolen mills, near Ellicott City, Baltimore county, Maryland, while still another suspicious blaze was checked in time to prevent the destruction of the British liner Adriatic in an Atlantic port.

FARMER HURT IN EXPLOSION.

Acetylene Gas Tank Lets Go, Wrecking Buildings.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 26.—In the explosion of acetylene gas on his farm near Whitepost, Thursday night, Charles W. Fritts, a stockman and farmer, was blown through the building and badly burned and the building destroyed.

Carrying a lantern Mr. Fritts found the room filled with gas. The force of the explosion buried him in a snowdrift, from which he was taken by neighbors. He is in a serious condition. His residence and garage were damaged.

GAZETTE IS HELD UP BY CITY DEPARTMENT

Insufficient and Poor Quality of Gas Furnished for Linotype Machines in Gazette Office Almost Causes Publication of Paper to be Suspended for Today.

The publishers of the Gazette apologize to its readers for the small amount of reading matter which appears in its columns today.

Owing to the poor quality and insufficient amount of gas furnished by the City Gas Department, with which the metal used in the linotype machines is melted, it has been impossible to set up the usual number of columns of reading matter, which will account for the non-appearance of a large number of articles that had been prepared for publication in today's paper.

Superintendent Frank W. Latham, of the gas department, has rendered all the assistance in his power to aid in supplying what gas has been used today, and but for the help given by him it would not have been possible to issue a paper at all. It is hoped that conditions will be improved by Monday.

TO ENLARGE YARDS.

N. Y. W. R. R. To Increase Trackage And Improve System at Bristol.

Bristol, Va., Jan. 26.—The Norfolk and Western Railway is planning for a very large expediture of money in adding to its yard facilities here.

This became known when the plan was submitted to the City Council through S. V. Fulkerson, attorney for the railroad. It was announced that the railway company had purchased, or optioned, lands extending northward from the company's shops along the main line for fully a mile and a half. The land embraces a residential section the width of a city block. These homes are to be razed. The tracks will be doubled and extended from the passenger station to a point beyond the limits of the city.

The city is asked to close certain streets and alleys. The railroad proposes in this connection to construct new streets with overhead concrete bridges and concrete underway passages.

FOOD RATIONS IMMINENT.

Wilson in a Proclamation Today Will Call for Greater Saving.

Greater saving of food will be asked of the American people by President Wilson today in a proclamation announcing the food administration's 1918 conservation program. The critical situation in the allied countries and the amount of food the United States is expected to spare them was set forth in a preliminary statement last night by Food Administrator Hoover, who quoted a cablegram from Lord Rhondda, the British food controller, which said:

'Unless you are able to send the allies at least 75,000,000 bushels of wheat over and above what you have exported up to January 1 and in addition to the exportable surplus from Canada, I cannot take the responsibility of assuring our people that there will be enough food to win the war."

Although the food administration's plans contemplate creating the export surplus largely by voluntary effort, some measures of forced conservation will be employed, notably in the consumption of wheat flour which will be reduced by arbitrary means at least 30 per cent. This reduction will be accomplished by limiting the sales of distributers all the way from the miller to the retailer.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Bills Passed by the Senate for Good Roads, Conpulsory Education and Election of Corporation Commissioners by the People.

Good roads, compulsory education and popular election of corporation commissioners had their day in the General Assembly Thursday. The highway system series of bills passed the Senate without a vote against it. The same body adopted the bill to have corporation commissioners elected by the people by a vote of 29 to 7. The House passed the Williams compulsory education bill by 63 to 29.

These matters consumed practocally the whole time of the session but a large number of purely local bills were cleared from the calendars. In the House there was considerable debate over minor measures, but the Williams bill passage was its biggest achievement.

With the opening of the session Senator Buchanan put Senate bill 2 on its passage, it having been fully discussed on the two foregoing days. The vote was in favor of the bill, which demands State audits of county and city treasurers, by 23 to 9.

VICTIM OF DESPERADO.

Young Man Finds His Mother Unconscious, After Being Assaulted and Robbed.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 26.—Beaten across the read with a heavy weapon and choked into unconsciousness, robbed of her pocbook containing about six dollars and dragged into a nearby lot and left lying in the snow by an unknown person, believed to be the same negro who has terrorized Ghent for the past few weeks, Mrs. H. M. Hitchens, fifty-one years old, was found lying in a pool of her own blood close up against the side of a vacant house early Wednesday night by her son, A. L. McClennon, who was en route to the ferry to catch a boat for Portsmouth.

Gathering his mother up in his arms, he carried her home, a distance of 100 or more yards, and after calling a physican notified police headquarters.

Mrs. Hitchens was found by her son and was still unconscious an hour after she had been attacked.

TWO SMUGGLERS TAKEN

Alexandria Policemen Overhaul Negroes in Charge of Vehicle Containing Whisky For This City.

About twelve o'clock last night Chief Goods, Sergeant Scott, and Officers Kerns and Rawlett while on the overhead bridge near the alms house stopped Abe Banks and Samuel Contee, both colored, who were seated in a runnabout drawn by a small mule. The officers took an inventory of the contents of the vehicle and found seven and a half gallons of whisky, which was to be brought to this city. The negroes and their team were brought to the station house, and the prisoners arraigned before the Police Court this morning. The two men submitted no defense, and were ordered to be held for the action of the grand jury.

The police say the vehicle and mule belong in Alexandria. Instead of placing the animal in a livery stable, it was determined to make Joshua Sherwood, Overseer of the workhouse, its custodian until the Corporation Court shall have disposed of the case.

The next grand jury term of the court will be in June, but it is intimated that Judge Barley may order a special grand jury before that time, as several parties charged with violating the Mapp law are now in jail awaiting trial.

Forty-and half gallons of whiskey are now in the station house, 33 gallons having been captured Thursday night.

The case of James Fletcher, colored, charged with carrying a pistol, is given elsewhere in the Gazette. He had a pint bottle of whisky in one of his pockets when arrested, and alleged he made a trip to Baltimore for the purpose of purchasing the same. It is hard to understand why he should have incurred the expenditure of transportation to and from that city for the purpose of procuring such a small quantity of liquor. There is every reason to believe that ardent spirits are still disposed of in Alexandria, and the police are endeavoring to locate the violators of the law. This morning an empty bottle which had contained a quart of whisky was placed in Market Alley, near the station house, presumably as an insult to the authorities. Heretofore the minimum fine and imprisonment has been imposed upon those who defy the prohibition law. $50 fine and 30 days in jail. It may become necessary to fix the term of imprisonment at six months and to impose a fine of $250.

PRICE ON GAS IN NORFOLK.

Increase of Ten Cents on Every Thousand Feet Brings Strong Protest.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 26.—Norfolk's gas situation began to get a thorough probing this week when the investigation of the new rates charged for gas in the city and the method of operation of the City Gas company had its opening session in the City Hall.

Not only was it established that the company is making money at the one dollar rate, but that it has a surplus of $300,000 after having paid dividends, interest on bonds and provided for improvements.

The cheaper gas committee of the city contends that the advance from $1 to $1.10 in rate is too high and entirely out of proportion to the company's investment.

NEGRO ON THE RAMPAGE

Procures a Bottle of Whisky and a Revolver and Terrorizes the Southeastern Section of the City.

Between three and four o'clock yesterday afternoon James Fletcher, a negro, appeared in the neighborhood of Gibbon and Pitt streets drunk and with a pistol which he loaded and discharged in every direction. Police headquarters were notified, and Chief Goods, Sergeant Wilkinson and officer Roland utilized an automobile in order to lose no time in reaching the scene. When Fletcher saw the officers he started to run, and refused to halt when ordered. At this juncture Officer Roland discharged his pistol at the fugtive. But the negro kept running until he reached the yard of his home, but he had barely arrive there before the officers had him in charge, Sergeant Wilkinson disarming him.

Fletcher was taken to the station house and locked up and a special session of the Police Court was held at 7 o'clock last night for the purpose of disposing of the case. A half-pint bottle of whisky was taken from one of Fletcher's pockets. When asked where he procured the liquor, he gave the stereotyped answer, "In Baltimore."

He was then asked why he carried a pistol, when he alleged he purchased it Tuesday for the purpose of keeping it in his house. Fletcher was fined $50 for carrying the weapon, and should he fail to pay the assessment he will spend the next ninety days in jail.

Several ball cartridges were taken from his pockets; also a bag filled with the same.

ANSWERS OF CENTRAL POWERS

Great Divergence Shown in Two Replies to Wilson's Peace Terms.

Amsterdam, Jan. 26.—Germany, through her chancellor, Count von Hertling, in the Reichstag, has made a specific, point for point reply to President Wilson's fourteen conditions of peace. It is couched in the language of one who demands instead of one who yields. It is, in the main, a rejection.

Austria-Hungary, through her foreign minister, Count von Czernin, has made a generl reply to the American Executive's peace aims speech. It is framed in the tenor of one who is glad to yield, and would yield more if he could. It is almost a plea. It contains a direct invitation to America to enter into an exchange of views with Austria-Hungary, as a "starting point" for general peace discussion. It adds, almost in the nature of an awkward afterthought, that Austria is and will remain loyal to Germany.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The door is not closed to a separate peace proposal from Austria.

This was the comment in official quarters last night on the suggestion of Count Czernin, the Austrian premier, that profit might come from a direct exchange between the United States and the Dual Monarchy.

At any time that Austria-Hungary desires, it was explained, she can submit her proposition. The way lies open through the medium of Spain or Switzerland. And should it come, the proposition would be given such consideration it deserves.

Thus far nothing official has come to indicate that Austria has any such step in mind. The only information here, it was stated, was that furnished by the press reports from Copenhagen, quoting Czernin as saying that Austria-Hungary and the United States were already virtually in accord on fundamental principles, and quoting him as adding, in his speech before the Reichstag:

"It is obvious to me that an exchange of views between America and Austria-Hungary might form the starting point for a conciliatory discussion among all states which have not yet entered into peace negotiations."

WARNING FROM RICHMOND.

When two sleds crashed together on the steep incline of Libby Hill Park Richmond, Thursday afternoon, Parker Thornton Giannotti, ten years old was killed, and his brother, Edwaru, suffered a badly twisted ankle.

It is the custom of youngsters of the East End, Richmond, to take advantage of every snow of sufficient depth by a sledding carnival on Libby hill, and their energy shortly develops a track down the incline that is unusually fast. With many boy friends, the young Giannoti had made several trips without thought of danger, and it is likely that Parker miscalculated his distance and the speed his sled was capable of making when he plunged after his brother on the fatal ride.

There is no disposition on our part to abridge the diversions of the younger generation, as there was a time in the remote past when we, too, were numbered with the young and participated in juvenile pastimes, not the least of which was coasting. We never thought of danger, the sport being so exhilarating But the sad accident noted above should act as a warning to all young people. Several fatal accidents have happened to boys in northern cities this winter while the youngsters were coursing down hills. The lives of two were crushed out at Harrisburg, Pa., this week by a collision between the coasters and trolley cars.

Many of our young folks during the past few weeks have enjoyed coasting on streets east of Fairfax running toward the river. While so engaged automobiles and other vehicles have passed and repassed. So far no one has been injured, but there is no telling what may happen if the revellers are not cautious. The sleds often come together with a crash, as was the case in Richmond.

DISPOSAL OF THE VEHICLES.

Vehicles in which liquor are transported—autos, wagons, buggies and small vessels—will be confiscated if the prohibition law is amended as proposed in the state senate this week. In the past the owners of vehicles engaged in this traffic have managed to regain possession of the same after they had been taken by the officers. The vehicles could be held only to insure the payment of any fines imposed. This has not proved satisfactory, and it has so happened that automobiles have been twice seized engaged at the illegal traffic. The proposed change will confiscate the vehicles to the state and they will be sold at auction, the proceeds going as provided by law for such property. The liquor seized becomes the property of the state and should be destroyed by the officers as the law now stands.

This question has loomed up twice in the Alexandria Police Court within twenty-four hours. On Thursday night it will be remembered a large touring car containing thirty-three gallons of whisky and several bottles of lager beer on the way to Richmond was captured. The occupants were sent on to the grand jury and the vehicle and liquor held as evidence. The two men today asked if the auto would be sufficient for security for their appearance before the grand jury. They were told it could not. It was learned that the parties who were operating it Thursday night are not the owners but one is a stockholder in the machine.

A similar case came up this morning. Two negroes who were using a runabout and a diminutive mule to bring whisky into this city were captured by the police. Seven and a half gallons of liquor were found in the vehicle. The negroes, the liquor and the team were held for the grand jury. In order to avoid paying board for the mule, the animal was sent to the city house where it can be utilized. The owner of the mule later in the day requested that it be turned over to him. His request was denied

REPLIES OF THE CENTRAL POWERS.

The newspapers of the United States, as well as the chief officals of this country, see no gleam of hope for peace in the announcements of the German Chancellor and Austrian Premier published yesterday. While Austria makes it manifest that that country is war-weary and anxious for peace, von Hertling, the German, as might have been expected, is defiant.

The Washington Post substantially reflects the opinions of most papers in our country when it says:

There is a divergence between the two countries which obviously suggests violent differences of opinion between the peoples of the nations, the details of which are, of course, concealed from the outside enemy world. Count Czernin makes several general remarks indicating a desire to enact an understanding with the United States, but when his words are subjected to analysis it becomes evident that Austria-Hungary is not only wedded to policies that are ineradicably at variance with those of the United States, but is unable to negotiate peace independently of Germany. The Hohenzollerns definitely and absolutely dominate the Hapsburgs. Our contemporary asks, what do the Hohenzollerns want? What are they willing to do for the sake of peace? All that can be learned from Chancellor von Hertling's long address before the reichstag committee is that Germany will be willing to make peace as soon as she has accomplished the objects for which she went to war. She has not quite achieved all her aim The intervention of the United States has complicated Germany's task and threatens to destroy her hopes. Therefore much of the hatred that was manifested toward Great Britian has been transferred to the United States. Germany stands defiant, loaded with loot, with dripping knife, still unconquered, still looking for more conquest. The world has not brought the beast to bay, nor even definitely checked his ravages. There is no peace in Germany's murderous heart. The utterances of German statesmen are mere auxiliary aids to German guns and German propaganda.

The Baltimore Sun says von Hertling speaks with a fine air of confidence and concedes nothing. There, of course, can be no peace on his terms.

The lesson for the Allies is plain Prepare for that attack on the western front. If it fails, they will probably be able to make a satisfactory peace promptly.

MANY LIKE THIS IN ALEXANDRIA.

Similar Cases Being Published in Each Issue.

The following case is but one of many occurring daily in Alexndria. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof of merit.

Walter C. Dameron, railroad brakeman, 825 north Columbus St., Alexandria, says: "My back hurt so badly that often I had to lay off from work. After I got down I couldn't straighten up again without sharp pains catching me across my kidneys. There was hardly a night passed that my back didn't ache. My kidneys acted too frequently and during the night I had to get up every little while. When morning came, I felt so tired and weak I could hardly drag myself out of bed. I doctored and tried different medicines, but felt no better until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Henry Callan's Drug Store and used them. I took about six boxes in all and since then I have had but little trouble from my kidneys and have felt like a different person."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr Dameron had, Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly . . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three . . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children . . . Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years.

Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO CONSUMERS OF COAL

At the direction of the Fuel Administrator for Virginia, an order has been issued to the retail dealers of coal in this city and county, not to deliver coal to household consumers, in quantities in excess of two tons and then only when the consumer's supply on hand is two tons or less. This will make the maximum quantity of four tons at any one time. To larger consumers, deliveries are not to be made in quantities greater than the actual needs of the consumers for fifteen days, and then only when the consumer's supply on hand is less than their requirements for fifteen days. This will make the maximum quantity held by larger consumers at any one time, only sufficient for their actual needs for thirty days or less. Industries buying coal in carload lots must obtain special permit from the Fuel Administrator.

To make this order effective, and to relieve the dealer of the responsibility and difficulty of ascertaining the supply any consumer has on hand, it is arranged that an affidavit be furnished by the purchasers of coal in excess of one-half ton (this affidavit can be made by any member of the family over sixteen years of age.) These forms for making the affidavits will be in the hands of the dealers, and notaries and the affidavits will be taken without charge, by any one of the following notaries public, who have offered their services to aid the Commission in this work:

Miss Gladys M. Brooks, room 1, Alexandria National bank building, W. C. Drury, 107 south Royal street; J. T. Burke, Burke and Herbert; Miss Cora Duffey, Office, Clerk of Court; Courtland H. Davis, 121 south Royal street; Claude H. Crump, 1301 King street; M. L. Dinwiddie, Citizens National Bank; J. J. Green, First National Bank; E. J. Fleming, 119 south Fairfax street; A. C. Fuel Commission, Alexandria city and County.
